Del Castillo's "Café Sin Leche" Wins at HMMA

Over 900 artists, nominees, celebrities, music professionals and fans attended the annual Hollywood Music in Media Awards (HMMA). Held Thursday, November 19th, 2009 at the Hollywood & Highlands/Kodak Theater. The red-carpet event featured award presentations, live performances and nods to iconic individuals with special awards.

Austin's favorite band Del Castillo took home the honor for Best Instrumental Song for "Cafe Sin Leche." Del Castillo was also up for Best Music Video "Anybody Wanna," their current single. Both cuts are from the 2009 self-titled "Del Castillo" independent CD.

In addition to this prestigious award, Del Castillo was nominated this year on the ballot for four Latin Grammy and two Grammy awards, all from this latest release.

The HMMA event will be televised around the globe in a post-edited version to 17 countries in 2010.

The Hollywood Music in Media Awards recognizes and honors the music of visual mediums, the talented individuals responsible, and the music of independent artists from around the globe in all forms of media including film, TV, video games, commercial advertisements, movie trailers and music videos.
